JULY 3-JULY 25

LAND-BASED SUMMER PROGRAM

The Learn and Earn Program offers Indigenous high school students in grades 10–12 the opportunity to explore university life through a three-week, land-based summer program grounded in Indigenous knowledge, environmental stewardship, and culturally-responsive practice.

A partnership between the UBC Faculty of Education, UBC Faculty of Forestry and the Vancouver School Board - Indigenous Education Department, this program supports students in earning dual credit toward both high school and post-secondary coursework. Students will receive a scholarship for their participation and completion of the program.
